

Resident Udomporn “Baw” Weaver

Udomporn Weaver, a delightful and cheerful resident at our village grew up in Thailand, the only girl of five siblings, so her talent to cook was nurtured at an early age. In Thai culture, young children are not given middle names, but rather an official nickname, so that is why we lovingly call Udomporn, “Baw”. Baw met her husband, Steve, a native of Fredericksburg, Ohio when he was stationed in Thailand in the Air Force during the Vietnam War. They fell in love and he told Baw he would send for her when he returned to the United States. He sent a plane ticket to her, but since communication was so limited fifty years ago, Steve did not know if she would arrive at the airport, but fortunately she did and they were married. Eventually they moved to the Wooster area. Baw’s two sons, two daughters-in-law (who she especially appreciates) and six grandchildren are a joy to her. In Thailand, Baw was trained in culinary arts, sewing and cosmetology. She worked at the College of Wooster for 22 years as the manager of the snack bar and also at the former Horn Nursing Home for twelve years as a cook. We appreciate when Baw shares her cooking ability at our “Taste of Thai” activity by making savory chicken curry, fried rice, fresh spring rolls, and Pad Thai. With her Thai cultural background, Baw was raised with the Buddhist religion, and now she is happy to attend church with her family.

Employee Lindsey Barnett

Lindsey Barnett, STNA, has worked at ACV the past two years. She grew up in Alliance, eventually moved to the Doylestown area and graduated from Chippewa High School. She studied nursing at the University of Akron for two years and has a desire to finish her degree in the future. She chose to be an STNA because she has the examples of nurses and aides in her family and she cares for her grandma. Lindsey is a dog lover and has three dogs, Miya, Bruno, and Ruby. She likes to babysit (and spoil!) her niece and nephew. Her co-worker says Lindsey makes others laugh and the camaraderie they share is evident. Lindsey attends First Christian Church in Massillon. A dream of Lindsey’s is to travel the world. For now, we are thankful for Lindsey’s commitment to our home where she shares her love with our residents.
